BIGFOOT!

SPRINGFIELD--Police here yesterday announced that they had captured and jailed Bigfoot, the elusive half-man, half-beast whose existence and evolutionary significance have been debated for decades by scientists and biologists.

NATIONAL INFORMER

MARRIED BIGFOOT!

SPRINGFIELD--With the eyes of the world riveted on this sleepy town, the amazing capture of Bigfoot took a bitter turn yesterday when lifelong Springfield resident Marge Simpson alleged she had been married to the monster for the past 12 years.

Springfield Police Chief Wiggum said in a prepared statement, "All evidence seems to corroborate Ms. Simpson's assertion that the beast we captured yesterday is in fact her husband, Homer Simpson."

The couple, Mr. Simpson alleged, were on a camping trip with their three children when the newly purchased vehicle plunged 200

Dear Shopper Editor,

I've had it up to here with your "news pages" and it's terrible. You should only publish news stories of babies being born, picture after picture of babies, advertisements of baby products, etc.

Where will it all end?

What about the rest of us who aren't old babies and it's even worse for us because we are the majority. If you ask me, you are only getting paid to do a news story because the people don't see any other way of life and they
 "that's a good way to get my name in the paper," and that only leads to more babies.

It's a waste warning you. I am a writer and I'll be in it for a while. I will never let you see my name in the paper.

Sincerely,

Abraham Simpson

Dear Mr. Simpson

I need to talk with you about ways to improve Homer's study habits. His constant efforts to draw attention to himself with noises imitating bodily functions and his off-color attempts at humor during class time have reached the point where I have no alternative but to warn you that drastic measures may be necessary. We've told him repeatedly that he's an underachiever, but Homer seems to think that's a compliment.

SIGNATURE Marge Bouvier

Your signature indicates a sensitive, free-spirited and creative nature. The graceful calligraphic curves of your capital letters reveal a love of poetry and music. You are destined for a life of elegance, refinement and artistic fulfillment.

SIGNATURE HOMER SIMPSON

Your signature exhibits a strong tendency toward slothness, inattention and woolgathering. The unsophisticated arrangement of ill-formed lines and circles which comprise your writing suggests an obtuse and insipid outlook. You are doomed to a life of benolity, dullness and lethargy.

Murphy's Tenor Evokes Youthful Anxiety

By Jeff Johnson, Shopper Music Critic

Bleeding Gums Murphy knows a thing or two about being a tenor. He knows how to wail you in an instant from his suffering's and in the as high as the jazz life, however, Springfield's resident tenor saxophonist has been the sound of a tenor sax in the direction of second grader Lisa Simpson.

Murphy introduced the 7-year-old Lisa Simpson's composition "The Manipulative Daddy Blues" to an appreciative hole audience.

What makes this collaboration work so well is that Murphy's well worn (but never used) voice of experience with the stark, honest perception of Simpson's youthful dilemma, the need to function in an oppressive home environment while simultaneously yearning for a liberated artistic space.

Murphy's quarter appears to be a new ground in this new American of all music idioms.

I don't know much about this man's music but I do wish he'd do something about that

Quality Candles
 12345 Parkway
 12345

Dear Mr. & Mrs. Simpson

Correct me if I'm wrong, but I thought a person's 80th birthday was supposed to be a festive and dignified event.

I don't seem to hear you correcting me.

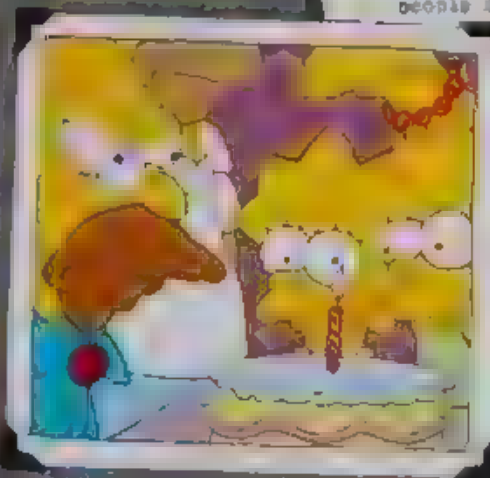

All right then, how do you suppose I felt when it was time to blow out the Quality (Hah! Now that's a hot one - if you get my meaning) Candle on my 80th birthday cake and I saw my birthday and nothing happened. Oh, all right, maybe the flame did lean over a few degrees, but not so's you'd notice.

Tell me this, Mr. or Ms. rocket scientist. If I made a wish, and the candle didn't go out, do I get a bonus wish? Well, if I do, here it is: I wish your whole ball of wax would go up in smoke.

Sincerely, Ned.

Ned Flanders
 Abraham Simpson

P.S. Have you ever thought about making half-size birthday candles? It would save valuable time while honest people such as myself waited for the thing to burn to the end. And another thing - how about chocolate-flavored candles? That stuff tastes awful!

AND THEN THEY TOOK NAPS

By Helen Lovejoy
(Tuttleton Press, $9.95 paper)

Tuesday's featured guest at the 46th regular monthly meeting of the Springfield Women's Literary Circle was newly published author Helen Lovejoy, wife of our own Rev. Lovejoy.

Ms. Lovejoy read from her best-selling book, "And Then They Took Naps", a novel based on the fantasy lives of certain Springfield housewives.

The session was lively and sometimes heated. An argument broke out when Selma Bouvier stood up and interrupted Ms. Lovejoy, saying, "Well, let's stop pussy-footing around, shall we? I mean, just who are the housewives you describe in Naps?"

Ms. Bouvier's challenge touched off a raucous argument among the 23 members present, half of whom joined her call for full disclosure, chanting, "Let's hear the names!"

Chairperson Marjorie Simpson finally restored order by shouting above the noise, "Ladies! Please! I think we can agree there's a little of all of us in every one of these characters. Now, isn't it about time for the lovely cookies baked for us today by Gloria Blaze uh, I mean Maude Flanders?"

Next month's meeting will welcome the much-traveled botanist and photographer Lee Mahiborn, who will discuss his highly acclaimed

I know I've said this many times before, but this really is the last stew.

I'm afraid your son Bartholomew is on a one-way conveyor belt to J.D.H., and I don't mean the Junior Disneyland Hotel. I mean the Juvenile Detention Home.

He will also be required to write on the blackboard 1000 times:

I can only hope you will take even sterner measures of discipline in the privacy of your own home.

Dear Memory Book--

Well, there you have us-- the Simpsons in a nutshell. We've had some laughs, we've had some tears, we've had some bruises, we've had some nasty sprains. But all in all, looking back on everything, I just sit here in wonder that we Simpsons are somehow a part of God's mysterious plan. If the song is right, and life is but a dream, I can only hope I never wake up.
